

Topic 5: AI for Social Media Content

5.1 Platform-Specific Content

- Each platform has distinct norms -- always specify the platform in your prompt
- LinkedIn: professional, thoughtful, 150--300 words; a hook in the first line; a question at the end drives comments
- Twitter / X: punchy, opinionated; educational threads of 5--10 tweets often outperform single posts
- Instagram: strong opening line (visible before 'more'); use line breaks; end with CTA and relevant hashtags
- TikTok captions: casual, trend-aware, short; the video is primary -- the caption supports it

5.2 Content Repurposing

- The most efficient content strategy: create one substantial piece, use AI to repurpose it for every channel
- From one blog post: AI can generate a LinkedIn post, a tweet thread, an Instagram caption, and an email newsletter blurb
- Prompt: 'Repurpose this blog post into: 1 LinkedIn post (200 words), a 6-tweet thread, 1 Instagram caption with 5 hashtags'
- This multiplies your content output without proportionally increasing the time invested in content creation

Repurposing prompt:

'I have written a blog post about time management for remote workers.

Repurpose it into:

1. A LinkedIn post (200 words, professional, end with a question)
2. A Twitter thread (7 tweets, each under 280 characters, punchy)
3. An Instagram caption (casual, relatable, 5 relevant hashtags)

Blog post: [paste your content here]'

5.3 Content Calendar with AI

- Ask AI to plan a month of content: 'Create a 4-week content calendar for a [industry] company targeting [audience]'
- Provide: industry, target audience, content pillars (3--4 themes), and desired posting frequency per platform
- AI generates a structured calendar with varied formats (carousel, video, poll, text post, story)

- Refine: layer in company events, product launches, industry dates, and seasonal hooks that AI cannot know
- Scheduling tools: Buffer (buffer.com), Hootsuite (hootsuite.com), or Later (later.com) for automated posting

5.4 Hooks, CTAs, and Hashtags

- Scroll-stopping hooks: 'Rewrite the opening line of this post to be more provocative or counterintuitive'
 - Generate CTA options: 'Write 5 call-to-action questions to end this post that will generate comments'
 - A/B test hooks: 'Write 5 different opening lines for this post so I can test which performs best'
 - Hashtag research: 'Suggest 15 hashtags for a LinkedIn post about [topic], mixing broad and niche tags'
 - Note: hashtag best practices vary by platform and change over time -- check current platform guidance
