

SkillSphere SEO — What We Did & What Happens Next

The Problem

When Google visited our course pages like:

`skillsphere.com.pk/explore/17/python-for-beginners`

It saw the same title for every page:

"SkillSphere - Online Courses & AI Learning Platform Pakistan"

This is bad because Google could not tell what each course page is about.

Also Google did not even know our course pages existed.

What We Did

1. Told Google our course pages exist (Sitemap)

We created a file called `sitemap-courses.php` on the server.

When Google visits `skillsphere.com.pk/sitemap-courses.xml` it gets a list of all our course pages automatically:

skillsphere.com.pk/explore/17/python-for-beginners
skillsphere.com.pk/explore/18/web-development-fundamentals skillsphere.com.pk/explore/19/object-oriented-programming-using-c-plus-plus
...and so on

We submitted this to Google Search Console so Google knows to check it.

2. Made each course page show the right title (SEO Injector)

We created a file called `seo.php` on the server.

Now when Google visits a course page, it sees the correct title and description for that specific course:

Before:

Title: SkillSphere - Online Courses & AI Learning Platform Pakistan
Description: SkillSphere is Pakistan's #1 AI-powered...

After:

Title: Python for Beginners - SkillSphere
Description: Master the fundamentals of programming using Python...

3. Nothing was broken

- The website works exactly the same for users
- The homepage SEO is untouched
- The robots.txt is untouched

- The sitemap.xml is untouched
- The index.html file on the server is untouched

What Will Happen Now

Days 1-3

Google will visit our course pages one by one and read their titles and descriptions.

Days 3-14

Google will start indexing the course pages. This means they will start appearing in Google search results.

After that

When someone in Pakistan searches "Python course in Urdu" or "learn web development Pakistan" — our course pages can appear in the results.

For New Courses

When a new course is published on SkillSphere:

- It automatically appears in the sitemap — no action needed
- Google finds it on its own within a few days
- To make it faster — go to Google Search Console, paste the course URL, click Request Indexing

In One Line

We told Google our courses exist and made sure Google sees the right name for each course when it visits.
